REVISION ADOPTED 2006

ARTICLE I. NAME

Section 1

"Worthy to serve the suffering"

ARTICLE II. MEMBERSHIP AND AIMS

- Physicians or scientists who have attained distinction in any worthy line of endeavor and are not eligible for election by any other means. These individuals are elected by the Board of Directors as honorary members.

Section 2

The Society is organized for educational purposes exclusively and not for profit, and its aims shall be the promotion of scholarship and research in medical schools, the encouragement of a high standard of character and conduct among medical students and graduates, and the recognition of high attainment in medical science, patient care, and related fields.

ARTICLE III. INSIGNIA

Section 1. Badge of the Society

The official badge of this Society shall be in the form of a key or key-pin, and shall be designed after the Manubrium Sterni. The face shall have engraved thereon the three Greek letters ΑΩΑ and 1902, the date of organization of the Society.

Section 2. Certificate of Membership

The certificate of membership in this Society shall be of such design and wording as the Board of Directors approves. It shall bear the seal of the Society and the signatures of the President and Secretary.

Section 3. Seal of the Society

The seal of this Society shall consist of a circular wreath of laurel in the inside of which, near the wreath, shall be placed the motto in Greek. Inside of this the words, Alpha Omega Alpha, and below this "Organized in 1902."

ARTICLE IV. MEMBERSHIP AND GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS

Section 1. General

The function and influence of the Society depend upon the wisdom with which members are elected. Candidates are selected for membership of a chapter as medical students, residents or fellows, faculty, and alumni/ alumnae not members of that faculty of medicine.

Individual chapters, through their members, including students, residents and fellows, and faculty, shall establish procedures to apply the national criteria for election of new members.

All members of the chapter are eligible to vote. Each candidate shall be balloted upon separately at a meeting of members convened for that purpose or by mail. Election shall require a majority vote of those in attendance.

No candidate shall be denied election because of race, color, creed, ethnic origin, age, gender, or any other characteristic prohibited by the Equal Opportunity and Affirmative Action laws of a state, province, territory, or nation.

Self-nomination will not be considered for any category of membership.

Section 2. Medical Student Memberships

- Those candidates whose scholastic qualifications place them in the upper twenty-five percent of their class shall be considered for election. From that number, one-sixth of the total number of the class expected to graduate may be elected to membership. In those medical schools that have no graded standings for students, the Dean or his/her designee can provide to the chapter Councilor the names of students that approximate in number the upper quartile of the class expected to graduate and who, by consensus, match the high criteria for selection to membership (see section 2c.).
- Up to one-half of the quota for any class may be elected to membership in the spring of their junior year. Each chapter, each year, may determine whether or not to elect members from the junior class. Chapters may choose to elect all or a portion of their quota of student members at any time during the senior year prior to graduation. Each chapter is encouraged to save one or two positions in each class of students for seniors to be elected close to time of graduation, in recognition of notable achievements during the final year of undergraduate medical education.
- Criteria for election:* Scholastic achievement should be the primary but not sole basis for election of a student. Leadership capabilities, ethical standards, fairness in dealing with colleagues, potential for achievement in medicine, and a record of service to the school and community at large should be criteria in addition to the academic record. These additional attributes will be weighted in the selection process by policies established within each chapter.
- Method of election:* Individual chapters, through their members, including students, residents, fellows, and faculty, shall establish procedures to apply the national criteria for election of new members. Each eligible candidate shall be considered separately.

If academic records and/or personnel files of eligible candidates are reviewed in connection with the election process, the chapter must contact the Dean's office to determine if the specific written consent of students is required prior to this review. If so, that must be obtained from eligible students before the election process. Only the Chapter Councilor or the Councilor-designated alternate member(s) should have access to grades or class standing of students. Conflicts arising about choices of students for election will be resolved within the institution.

- e. Students who have taken part of their medical school education elsewhere will be eligible for election to the Society after being in attendance for one academic year in the medical school of the electing chapter.
- f. Elected candidates may only be inducted into the Society after the membership fees to the local chapter and to the national AΩA office have been paid.

Section 3. Resident and Fellow Memberships

Residents and fellows who were elected as medical students to the Society are automatically members of the chapter of the medical school sponsoring the educational programs in which they are enrolled.

In addition, each chapter may elect to membership in the Society each year up to three residents or fellows, after their first year of residency or fellowship. Such election shall be based on continued achievement and promise referred to in Article II and Article IV.

Section 4. Alumni/Alumnae and Faculty Memberships

The provision for election by each chapter of up to two alumni/alumnae members and two faculty members each year provides a means of recognizing and honoring individuals who have distinguished themselves in their professional careers. Inasmuch as the number of individuals eligible for election in these two categories is limited, chapters should evaluate carefully the professional and personal stature of nominees.

- a. Alumni/Alumnae: Graduates of medical schools in which a chapter exists, who were not elected as students, residents, or fellows, but who, after ten years or more following graduation are judged on the basis of achievement to be qualified, may be elected to membership in their medical school chapter.
- b. Faculty: Members of the sponsoring school's Faculty of Medicine who hold an earned doctoral degree (M.D., Ph.D., or equivalent) and have demonstrated a commitment to scholarly excellence and medical education may be elected to the chapter of that school.

Section 5. Honorary Membership

The Board of Directors may elect physicians or others to honorary membership who have attained national or international recognition in teaching or research, or in leadership roles that are relevant to medicine, and who are not eligible for election through other means. Election shall be by unanimous vote.

Section 6. Membership Transfer and Reciprocity of Membership

Members of the Society may join the activities of the chapter nearest to the location of their continued professional activity by contacting the Councilor of that chapter.

Members not residing near a chapter may become affiliated with an Association or help in the founding of an Association (Section 7).

Section 7. Associations of Alpha Omega Alpha

Groups of ten or more society members may, upon approval of the Board of Directors, form an Association of Alpha Omega Alpha in medical schools, cities, or districts where a chartered chapter does not exist.

The function of these Associations will be to foster intellectual and social exchange among AΩA members forming the Associations. The Association may not elect student members but may elect resident, fellow, faculty, and alumni members in accordance with Article IV, sections 3 and 4.

Associations are formed and disbanded at the pleasure of the President of AΩA. Members desiring to form an Association may request a membership listing in a given area. The national office of AΩA should then be petitioned by providing a list of ten or more dues-paying members and their addresses, and a brief statement of plans for activities. They should elect officers who will submit a yearly summary of activities and members to the Executive Secretary of AΩA.

Section 8. Membership Revocation

The Board of Directors may, at its discretion and by unanimous vote, revoke the membership of any member or honorary member for proven behavior that is in conflict with the national criteria for election, or that is inconsistent with the goals and purposes of AΩA as outlined in Article II, Section 2.

An annual Alpha Omega Alpha address by a distinguished member of the medical profession or other appropriate speaker should be sponsored by each chapter. The address may be given on the same day as the annual dinner for the recognition of new members.

Section 3. Voting

All members of the chapter are entitled to vote at a chapter meeting or in response to receipt of a ballot by mail. Each chapter shall establish the number of members constituting a quorum for the transaction of chapter business and election of members.

This Society since its inception has been an organization of medical students; therefore, every effort should be made to stimulate and maintain student interest in the Society and its mission. Chapters are urged to engage in activities in which medical student members may take part.
